CAMPAIGN TO OPEN THURSDAY TO RAISE ENDOWMENT FUND

Plans Completed For the Solicitation In Morgan County

CAMPAIGN NEED IS EXPLAINED

Statement Issued By American Legion Sets Forth Plan

At a meeting Monday evening in the office of S. A. Lynne, plans were finished for the American Legion's part in the campaign for an endowment fund for aid of disabled veterans and their families and widows of veterans.

The campaign will open in the state on April 1, and plans have been made for commencing the solicitation in Morgan County on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Committees will cover most of the places in the county, but was requested that every one financially able to do so, contribute, whether seen by the committee or not.

The county organization is headed by Probate Judge L. P. Truon and S. A. Lynne with members and officers of the Morgan County Post of the American Legion co-operating. A statement issued by the Legion explains the necessity for the campaign as follows:

Days of exposure in snow, rain, mud and mire, hours of suffocation by poison gas, the weeks of the influenza epidemic, all contributed to the ghastly heritage of tuberculosis which has racked down service men of the World War by thousands. They have gone down slowly, reluctantly, fighting against the dread of abandoning families to want even where government offered free hospitalization and the chance of cure. Every day that dread problem is faced in many a home of an American veteran. What will the life do? What will become of the boys?

As neighbors to every such home are the homes of Legionnaires, the friend of every sufferer there the Legion post of his home town, fettered by red tape, equipped with comradeship of understanding, the Legion holds out its hand to help where those spots which even the best organized governmental relief machinery cannot touch. No hard and fast limit of law limits the power of the Legion to help when and where and in the help is most needed. The Legion workers, the Auxiliary workers, require no paper report forms, no red tape, no legal opinions, no other authority. They are there. They go. They carry, not charity but comradeship, friendship, and relief. The limit of their service is not to low Legionnaires but to all who are in their country's service.

Back of this army of service stand the national rehabilitation service and the national child welfare service. They stand ready with hospital service, with the children's billets, with medical direction, with co-ordinating contacts with government and private agencies. Costing relatively little in annual expense, they form the dynamic center, inspiration and direction of the national-wide discharge of our obligation to the war's disabled and orphans. Their six-year fight against tuberculosis is but one of the many factors in this campaign.

This central dynamo of service in building up the wounds of a nation's title cannot be allowed to stop, nor slow down. Its operation must not be left to chance.

The great life work of the American Legion for the disabled and the children for which it requires an endowment backing of five million dollars would be necessary, right and just, it were to cost five hundred million. It is neglected it will throw back the task and a vastly greater cost. The Legion with its especial duty to its

BRIDGE COLLAPSES; REICHSWEHR DROWN

Temporary Structure Gives Way and the Victims Hit River

(Associated Press)
DETMOULD, Germany, March 31—Fifty members of the German reichswehr were drowned in the river Wezer this morning, when a bridge being constructed by pioneers in connection with the reichswehr movement collapsed. The victims were part of a column marching with full field equipment which attempted to use the temporary structure. More than 100 soldiers were precipitated into the river, when the pontoon bridge gave way. The men had to struggle against the handicap of their heavy equipment.

Forty Men Are Trapped In Mine

(Associated Press)
NEW CASTLE, Eng., March 31—Forty men, it is now stated are trapped in the Montague colliery at Scobwood, near here, which was flooded yesterday by a sudden inrush of water. Little hope is held out of saving any of the men.

Scores of relatives are gathered about the pithead, including many women who have stood in the cold rain for 14 hours or more, in the hope that their men will be rescued.

comrades, would do the job at any cost.

Finding it practical to sustain this nation-wide program on the income of a relatively small endowment, it asks for the prompt provision of that endowment during the coming few months. It feels confident that it need not beg for this need, but that it can ask it knowing that all who give will do so gladly and proudly, thankful for the privilege of sharing this responsibility to those whose sacrifice to their country was beyond money and beyond price.

NEARLY 50 KILLED IN MOSCOW WRECK

Shatters Locomotives And Reduces Coaches To But Fragments

(Associated Press)
MOSCOW, March 31—Nearly 50 persons were killed and 100 others injured in a head-on collision between the Pashkent express and a Moscow suburban train last night. The disaster, which was one of Moscow's worst in recent history, occurred about one mile from the capital. The locomotives were shattered and several of the passenger coaches reduced to fragments. Lack of extrication, the victims, pinioned beneath the wreckage. The rescue workers also were hampered because of the darkness.

W. H. Layton Dies at Hospital on Monday

W. H. Layton died last night at the Benevolent hospital after being brought to the institution from Flint where he lay in a dying condition as a result of an attack of pneumonia. Services will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the city cemetery.

The deceased has been aided by Albany-Decatur people since he was taken ill at Flint some weeks ago where he was forced to stop with his family on account of illness. The family was on its way from Georgia to Arkansas.

Mr. Layton is survived by his wife and five children.

It was stated this morning that an effort will be made locally to raise funds to provide transportation to Pennsylvania for the wife and five children where they go to live with Mrs. Layton's relatives. Any donation can be left at A. L. Moye's barber shop on Second Avenue.

TELLS OF EFFORT TO LOOT STORE

Went Into Robbery To Get All Money He Could, He Says

(Associated Press)
HARTFORD, Conn., March 31—Walter E. Shean, son of a wealthy Springfield, Mass., family, the state's principal witness against Gerald Chapman, charged with the murder of Policeman James Skelly, during the looting of a New Britain store last October, took the stand for cross examination today.

Shean, obviously nervous, said he had met Chapman, known his as "Waldo W. Miller," by the latter's telephonic appointment.

"Gerald Chapman told me he was a friend of George Brown," Shean said.

At this point Fred J. Groehl, chief counsel for the defense, brought out that Brown was a known safe blowler now in the federal prison at Atlanta. Shean said he met Brown four years ago and knew him for eight weeks when he disappeared. He had not seen him since, he said.

Yet, he admitted, he had accepted Chapman in friendship, although he knew Brown to be a crook.

Shean admitted he had had trouble over a stolen bond case. Joseph Mo-shall, a Springfield race bookmaker, he said, told him he had $100,000 worth of stolen bonds and asked Shean to help him dispose of them.

He said he had stalled Marshall until he had had time to telephone the department of justice officials at Washington to inform the bureau of the stolen bond offer. A government operative called upon him, but Shean had neglected to get Marshall's address and the bonds were never recovered, nor Marshall arrested.

Groehl asked Shean sarcastically if he had gone into the New Britain burglary with Chapman on a "burning desire to help the government."

"I went into the burglary to get all the money I could out of it."

Special to The Daily.

MOULTON, Ala., March 31—Theo Owens, member of the Senior class in the Lawrence county high school, suffered a very severe if not serious accident Monday forenoon while making an experiment in the chemistry class.

He was handling metallic sodium in contact with water when an explosion took place that burned his eyes and face severely, the main force striking about the eyes. He was hurried to a doctor who thinks that possibly the sight may not be seriously injured but it may be a few days before this can be definitely determined. Young Owens is from near the Hatton school where he graduated last session in the tenth grade.

SITE IS CHOSEN FOR NEW 'WATER TANK' ON MARKET STREET

Formal Announcement Of Location Made By Manager Hale

MORE PRESSURE TO BE PROVIDED

Another Improvement of Water Service Here Will Be Made

The new storage tank of the Alabama Water company here will be erected near the intersection of West Market and Washington streets, according to the announcement made Tuesday by P. B. Hale, local manager.

The new tank will be probably a little larger than the old one, Mr. Hale stated, having 300,000 gallons available pressure. It will be erected on a platform of steel and concrete, ten cars of sand and cement being required for the construction of the platform alone.

The new tank will rear its head 120 feet into the air and will be constructed of sheet iron. The latter will be prepared in sections which will be fitted, one on the other, as the construction progresses, each sheet being riveted to the adjoining sheets.

Mr. Hale pointed out that more pressure will be available from the new tank than from the old, in view of the fact that the present tank is of what is known as the "old time" construction. As the water in the tank is lowered the pressure is reduced very materially.

The new tank is to be of the type now being used in the more modern water systems, Mr. Hale said. The pedestal feature permits a high pressure at all times until the tank is absolutely empty.

Construction of the new tank is a part of the general program of the company to increase and improve its facilities for giving Albany and Decatur satisfactory water service.

Beloved Woman Goes To Reward

Funeral services will be held at the Westside Presbyterian church on Wednesday at 3:30 o'clock for Mrs. A. H. Manly, aged 65 years, who suddenly passed away at the family residence this morning at 5:25 o'clock. In her loss the community feels a great loss.

Reverend L. P. Goodwin will be in charge of the services, assisted by Reverend James D. Hunter, A. N. Penland and J. M. McDaniel and interment will follow at the city cemetery.

Mrs. Manly was universally loved for her many Christian qualities and spent her life in service for others. She was respected, revered and held in high esteem by hundreds of friends in the cities.

The deceased is survived by her husband, Reverend A. H. Manly, a foster daughter, Mrs. W. E. Odom of Asheville, N. C., a foster son-in-law, E. B. Baxter of Asheville and three grand children. Two sisters, Mrs. H. H. White of Alexandria, La., and Mrs. G. B. Bond of Nashville, Tenn.

The following will act as pallbearers: L. A. Hobart, W. F. Busch, O. J. Thomas, L. B. Friend, R. M. Montgomery and S. R. Garrison.

Hear Objections To Assessments

Objections to assessments for recently completed street paving in Decatur were heard last night by the Decatur city council, the meeting having been set aside for that purpose. Several citizens and attorneys representing other appeared before the council in connection with the assessments on various streets.

Accuses Bandit

Miss Catherine Bourne, a bookkeeper of a Steubenville, Ohio, automobile company, testified in the Hartford, Conn., trial of Gerald Chapman, notorious bandit, for the alleged murder of Policeman James Skelly, that she saw Chapman in her employer's store on April 5, 1924, the day before a sedan mysteriously disappeared. The missing car was traced to within five hundred feet of the spot where Patrolman Skelly met his death in New Britain, Conn. The car was registered under the name of Waldo W. Miller, which, according to State's Attorney Alcorn, is a Chapman alias.

QUANTITY OF BOOZE YIELDED BY GARDEN

'Cache' Is Taken When Officers Visit the Home of Negro

James Polk, negro, was fined $100 and given 90 days by Mayor Carswell in the Albany police court this morning, on a charge of violating the prohibition law.

The negro's arrest followed a visit to his home by a squad of Albany policemen, who reported they found a quantity of booze in the garden at the defendant's home. Gardens are proper, in their place, the officers contended, but the lawful catalogue of garden products does not include liquid corn.

The cache was said to have consisted of one half gallon vessel, filled with "corn" and five one half pints.

Officers said they found the intoxicants "planted" in the garden about the fence. The negro resides in Oklahama.

GADSDEN MEN HELD IN DYNAMITE CASE

Warrant Is Sworn Out By Cafe Owner Against Pair

(Associated Press)

GADSDEN, Ala., March 31—Two well known men today are under bond of $10,000 each on a charge of blowing up with dynamite last night the cafe of Mrs. May Chambers in Atalla, a town near Gadsden.

The men who were arrested a few hours after the blast are Guy Moore, chief of the Atalla fire department, and Jesse McGee proprietor of an Atalla pressing club.

The cafe connects with a lodging house near the union station. A fiery cross was reported to have been set up before this house three weeks ago. A week later dynamite was said to have been set off near the premises.

The warrant was sworn to by Mrs. Chambers, who alleges she saw three men lurking about her cafe about three o'clock. She charges that two of the men were Moore and McGee. The warrant charges that the dynamite was set off "while there was a

LEASING QUESTION WILL BE REFERRED TO COMMISSIONERS

President Will Seek To Get Opinion From Appointees

IN MEANWHILE WEEKS GOES ON

War Secretary Will Go Ahead With Plan For a Short Lease

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 31—The question of leasing hydro-electric power developed by the Wilson Dam at Muscle Shoals, Ala., will be referred by President Coolidge to the Muscle Shoals commission, recently created under a house resolution for study by its membership.

Meanwhile, however, Secretary Weeks will go forward with his plan to ask for private bids on the power.

President Coolidge believes the special commission should inquire into the subject with a view of determining whether the contract under which the power could be leased, in accordance with the war secretary's plan, would conflict with further disposition of the Muscle Shoals project as a whole by congress.

It is the policy of President Coolidge to lease the power in event the commission finds that plan is feasible, and make it available to consumer without delay, at the same time providing a way to prevent the dam power facilities from standing idle.

In the opinion of Secretary Weeks, the bids should be asked for and contracts let with power enterprises by July 1 at which time it is estimated a minimum of 100,000 horsepower will be produced daily.

He believes also that private companies will purchase the power under contracts which can be revoked after 30 days notice by the government, and disposed of so there can be no conflict between them and whatever disposition congress may ultimately approve.

President Coolidge has directed Secretary Weeks to proceed with the war department's program of armory drills for the national guard, up to the requirement of the law. Mr. Coolidge has not been informed to what extent the program will require expenditure of funds for that purpose appropriated by congress with the sanction of the budget bureau.

Use of these funds has been held up by the president, pending an investigation of the need for them.

It is the President's belief that the order he has given Secretary Weeks will satisfy national guard officials who have discussed the matter with him.

Three Are Held In Operation Probe

(Associated Press)

WILLIAMSTON, N. C., March 31—A preliminary hearing today was expected to be given the three men arrested yesterday, charged with performing a serious operation upon Joseph Needleman, a tobacco salesman.

The operation was performed after a mob had forced the jail here, where Needleman was held, after it was alleged that he had attacked a young woman.

T. W. Sparrow, Jr., of Kingston, Johnny Gerkin and John A. Griffin, of Martin County were the men under arrest.

Sparrow, according to Sheriff Robinson of Martin County, was married Sunday afternoon to the girl who Needleman is alleged to have attacked. The condition of Needleman at a hospital was said to have been improved, physicians declaring the will

NEW POULTRY FARM HAS MANY CHICKS

Building 130 Feet Long Will Be Used For a Laying House

The City View poultry farm is the name of the latest industry here, now having 1,000 baby chicks with settings which are expected to produce two or three thousand more. The farm is owned and operated by Judge Thomas W. Wert and Melvin Hutson, well known local attorneys with Leaman L. McCulloch in charge.

Mr. McCulloch recently has completed two years training by the United States veterans bureau, having taken poultry as his subject of study.

The farm is specializing in thoroughbred white leghorns and now have 450 chicks, which will weigh about a pound each. They are just six weeks old. Another 450 weigh less and are about three weeks old.

A large building is being erected, 130 feet long, which will be completed in a few days and which will be used as a laying house.

SCOUTS TO LEARN HOW TO FIGHT FIRE

Demonstration Will Be Given Youngsters By Fire Chief Sorber

Carrying out their policy of learning some of those things which will make them better citizens and which will enable them, in after years, to render greater assistance to their community, local Boy Scouts are to learn the practical art of fire fighting.

The initial lesson is expected to be conducted this afternoon when Fire Chief W. H. Sorber, of the Albany department, plans to have a class of about 20 Scouts present at a practical demonstration of fire fighting.

Mr. Sorber stated that recently he was approached by members of the Scout organization and asked to assist them in learning more about fire fighting. He readily acquiesced in the plan and the scheduled lesson this afternoon will be the first of the series.

Revival Services Well Attended

Notwithstanding the fact that it was pay day in the Twin Cities and that it was the first week of the revival services at the Central Methodist church on Monday, the services were well attended and were a great blessing to those who attended.

Dr. Patterson the evangelist began a study of Paul's letter to the Ephesians, his special subject being the writer of the Epistle. The high-mountain top experiences of the life of Paul were stressed by the speaker in a dramatic and clear way. Throughout the morning hours of the revival, the book of Ephesians will be the basis for the message.

At the evening hour a series of

ONE MAN IS HURT AS HOUSE BURNS

Jessie Edge Receives Slight Burns While Rescuing Stove

Jessie Edge was slightly burned this morning while rescuing a stove from the home of Wilburn Prater, on the G. W. Russell farm. The home was destroyed by a blaze which originated just before noon in the flue of the dwelling.

Neighbors rushed to the assistance of the family and succeeded in getting most of the furnishings from the building. Mr. Edge and Mrs. Maudie Hicks succeeded in getting the kitchen range from the house, despite the fact that the stove was red hot and that ordinarily it would require several men to lift it. Mrs. Hicks was not hurt.

Mr. Prater resided on the Russell farm, seven miles southeast of Albany-Decatur and was a well known farmer of that neighborhood.

Messages on the subject of prayer were begun. With extraordinary insight and spiritual power, the speaker brought upon the hearts and intellects of his hearers showing that where men and women are right with their fellows and their lives fashioned according to the plan and purpose of God, do really bring things to pass in the world that never would happen if they did not pray.

The speaker is extraordinarily clear in his presentation of the great spiritual truths. He speaks with a spiritual vigor and power, perhaps never heard in our cities before.

SINNERS IN HEAVEN

seemed a dull dream he awoke just where he was, when, so to speak, he fell asleep. His feelings were absolutely unchanged, except, perhaps, that they were intensified by loss. The possibility of any alteration in their relationship never even occurred to him. As has been mentioned before, he was not blessed—or cursed—with imagination.

When he had nearly reached the barrier, a sudden tension became apparent everywhere: conversations ceased, heads all turned one way, a flutter of expectancy passed over the scattered groups.

Hugh turned quickly. The huge engine, approaching, glided slowly alongside the platform, followed by the train which brought far travelers home again from distant lands.

Within a few minutes all was bustle and hurry. The platform swarmed with excited passengers, harassed porters, barrows, luggage.

He searched hither and thither for the figure he sought, anxiety slowly rising within him. As the crowd thinned, he took up his position just inside the barrier, where she was bound to come. Peering through the murky light, he hastily scanned each face that passed, without success.

When at last but a few stragglers remained, he made his way further down the platform a dull feeling of disappointment adding to his anxiety.

Casualty his glance traveled over a thin figure in a dark coat and hat, seated upon a bench, a kindly, gray-haired porter standing near, suit-case in hand. . . . As he passed by, a voice he had once thought never to hear again caused him to turn sharply, with a leap of the heart.

"I shall be better in a minute. . . . Thank you, porter. . . ."

"Bab!" With probably the quickest movement of his life, Hugh reached the seat and seized the girl's trembling hands in his own. . . . Then all other words of greeting faded upon his lips: he was conscious of a sense of shock, a nameless apprehension.

The general features of the face quickly raised were those he knew; but that was all. This woman with the heavy, haunted-looking eyes, the strained set lips, the curious rigidity of expression, bore no resemblance to the sweet-faced, impulsive girl who had clung round his neck at parting, in the cabin of the airplane. He felt checked, curiously embarrassed, as if with a stranger.

Still clasping her hands, he gazed at her silently, noting with alarm the ashen hue spreading even to her lips. Several times she essayed to speak, and failed. The porter, scenting romance, discreetly moved a few steps away. . . . At last Hugh heard his name uttered, again and again, in a voice so charged with misery that his apprehensions deepened, and a sudden mistiness enveloped the surrounding scene. For she was clinging to his hands like one in deep torment who, for the first time amid a storm of suffering, finds the anchor of an old friend. . . . And yet he received the impression of fear in her manner; she seemed loath to meet his gaze, unable to talk to him. . . . He was frankly puzzled; but an Englishman, with his horror of scenes, can be trusted to bridge over any threatening chasms.

Sending the porter for a taxi, he sat down by her side, still holding her hands, and took refuge in the prosaic. "Come and have some tea—or brandy—or something, Bab," he suggested. "There's just time."

She shook her head. "But—you—dash it all! You don't look fit to travel. What is it, dear?"

"I shall be all right," she breathed. "We had a bad crossing. I—caught cold. That's all, Hugh."

He watched her with puckered brow. "What made you leave the boat at Marseilles and come overland?"

"I hated it!" she cried huskily, freeing her hands. "It was all—unbearable—day after day—the monotony, the people—oh! I hated it all!" Her eyes roved wildly over the platform, then she abruptly turned toward him. "I want Mrs. Field. Is she in London, or at Darbury?"

"Neither. She's in Russia."

The girl's hands twined convulsively together, and she said no more. It was a relief to both when the porter appeared to lead them to the waiting taxi. By this sudden act of traveling overland, she had successfully thwarted publicity. No curiosity was evinced in her arrival. She sank back in a corner, with throbbing head, bewildered by the noise around. It all seemed part of the nightmare which had been going on for so long, in which various parts of her anatomy moved, spoke, ate and slept, while she herself was numbed or dead. The movements around appeared as unreal and detached as the life of a gay city to one lying, blind and pain-stricken, in a darkened room.

Hugh turned to put his arms about her, as they drove away—but again something intangible checked him; instead, he took her hand once more, almost shyly, and leaned toward her. "Bab," he asked diffidently, "won't you—aren't you going to kiss me? After all this time?"

She drew away quickly, sharply. For a moment she laid her hand upon the door, with the mad instinct to escape which some trapped animal might feel on its way to the zoo; its heart ever away in the wilds with its lost mate. . . . Then, drawing a long quivering breath, she leaned back and looked up at him. In the light from passing vehicles, she saw the hurt wonder on his face. . . .

All at once the cold rigidity encompassing her heart relaxed. With trembling lips, and eyes swimming in sudden tears, she laid her free hand on his.

A contraction caught her throat, preventing speech. It was so familiar, so home-like, yet—so intolerable! She attempted to be led into the well-known room. Somebody removed

12 Years Ago From The Daily of March 31, 1913.

It is reported the Louisville and Nashville shops here have received orders for construction of 750 more cars.

Reports of a "dead man" lying near the tracks at Swan Lake caused some excitement here yesterday. Policeman Thompson went to the scene, but found the man had been sleeping and did not awake when the train passed.

Several prisoners, arrested Saturday night, held a "meeting in the county jail" last night. The sheriff fired a shot into the ceiling and "silence reigned again." After the meeting a search disclosed a saw and a quantity of acid.

Mrs. W. E. Skeggs has been quite ill for several days.

Miss Julia Neville spent the week end with Miss Lattie Wilkinson.

Mrs. Annie Anglin, of Florence, will arrive Tuesday to be the guest of Mrs. Troy.

A DAILY PRAYER—Keep us we pray Thee, from the slippery ways of sin and shame, and lead us in paths of righteousness for Thy name's sake.

Let us keep our faces to the front and there will be no "post-mortems" held over "what we should have done."

Now that a Muscle Shoals commission has been named, let us hope they do something beside listen to the creak of the swivel chair and enter into trivial arguments over worthless proposals.

IS ANOTHER ANCIENT CUSTOM TO BE ERASED BY THE PEOPLE OF FASHION?

"Is Spring housecleaning," a custom with a historical background of years, to be erased by the rapid pace which fashion now sets, and changed into a winter affair? Dame Fashion now sets, and changed into a winter affair? Dame Fashion has educated the people to a point where no longer is the appearance of a lady's fall bonnet in the summer surprising, nor her spring hat in the dead of winter astonishing.

Fashions in housecleaning, The New York Times discovers, also are changing. A statement from the wallpaper-makers association asserts that 15 per cent more of their product was sold in February this year than at any previous period of the same season.

This is interpreted as meaning that "housecleaning" has been moved up in many homes from April or May to February.

Clayton W. Cousins, director of the Association, comes forth with an apparently valid reason for the earlier cleaning periods, which is a great deal more than the hat manufacturers have yet offered. The widespread use of carpets in homes of the earlier generations, Mr. Cousins believe, had much to do with the building of the "spring housecleaning" custom.

In order for the home to be cleaned thoroughly and the walls renovated, in earlier days, it was necessary for the carpets to be taken up, which was quite a job in itself. Now the hardwood and highly polished pine floorings have eliminated such general use of carpets, and rugs, to an extent, have taken their place. Rugs, being more easily handled, can be lifted out of place, and a general cleaning undertaken at most any time the spirit of the housekeeper is moved.

All of which sounds very plausible, but one wonders, after all, if the same spirit which causes people to want strawberries in winter, iced products in summer, tropical climates for the cold periods, and mountains or seashore in summer, does not have some weight in the simple matter of house-cleaning.

LAWRENCE PERRY TALKS ON PRAYER IN ATHLETICS

Lawrence Perry, world renowned sports writer, talks this week in Association Men in what he terms a public confession. Mr. Perry declares that he has made a discovery in the realm of sports regarding the use of prayer prior to athletic contests, what he termed as "hokum." The writer in his usual pleasing style relates the story of the prayers of various elevens over the United States and of local interest he speaks of the Center College team after its return to Danville from the Alabama game. The writer says that the two best linemen in the college were laid up and there was practically no chance for them to play. The powerful Georgia eleven was to meet the Colonels, a Georgia team what was bent on wiping out a great stain of defeat left by Alabama and determined to avenge themselves upon Center College. The writer recalls the scene in the training rooms of the Kentucky team and ever

"Kneeling on the floor in front of one of the injured tackles was 'Bo' McMillan, famous back field star who had come back to give the team the benefit of his experience and inspiring character. The tackle in front of whom he was kneeling was the boy with the broken arch. How could he play? Yet he was the star linesman and if he did not play the game was lost before it was begun. 'Red' Roberts another alumnus hero was examining the knee of the other tackle. The player could not bear his weight on the knee without drawing his face in pain. But McMillan and Roberts are both men of initiative. McMillan took some papier mache, moulded it into the form of a pedal arch and thrust it beneath the foot. Then he bandaged and taped it.

"The Lord knows if this will stand you in stead," said McMillan and Roberts, gazing at the other tackle, whose knee he had bandaged, remarked antiphonally, "The Lord knows if your knee will last." Suddenly a voice, it had a sort of a ring to it, that commanded attention, sounded through the room with its half light and its odor of drugs and sweaty garments, "Let's put it up to the Lord."

It was young Gordy, one of the best players on the team, one of the best players in the country. Silence fell as he stood forth with eyes closed.

He did not ask that the team, through divine interposition be permitted to win this contest. He asked for no miracle. His petition was that the injured men on this eleven be given the power to endure pain, that there proficiency be not impaired by their injuries and that uninjured members of the eleven be protected from incapacitating injuries.

Who won that game? Centre won it, of course Centre won it from the time that little band left the dressing room for the field there was no doubt which team would win. You can say that it was psychology, a brain storm, the temper or the mettle of those players, but if you ask me I will tell you that it was prayer, the sheer power of prayer for during that game not a single man failed to live up to his performance. Not a single man was stretched on the ground with fresh injury and when the game was ended, with utter weariness they huddled together, lifted their faces and gave the cheer of their college. Did something more than a cheer go up into that dark, snowy December sky? I am inclined to believe that something deeper, something more heartfelt than a cheer, did go up."

Mr. Perry's "confession" is a master piece that should be worth much to the sporting world. When parents know that such an influence is thrown about their son there will be little doubt as to the development of that son morally as well as physically.

DOROTHY ELLINGSTON, THE GIRL AND DOROTHY ELLINGSTON, THE WOMAN.

Three months ago a girl was arrested in California on a charge of slaying her own mother. That girl was Dorothy Ellingson, aged sixteen years, jazz crazed, so the scientists said. The newspapers had it that the girl confessed to the murder and laughed as she talked of it. Public opinion was being moulded almost immediately. Dorothy Ellingson was guilty and there was but one course, she had taken a life and she had to give a life in fair exchange.

Today there is a woman in a California jail, charged with the killing of her mother. That woman is Dorothy Ellingson, aged sixteen years, normal and beginning to understand the enormity of the crime with which she is charged, so the scientists say. The newspapers have it that she has confessed to the crime and a tear drop trickles down her cheek as she talks of it. Public opinion has been moulded, she has taken a life, but she did not understand, there is but one course she must go free that she may repent for the sin that she has committed, she must live that her goodness might be a set example for others of her years who wish to tramp the primrose path.

It is peculiar the power that public opinion has. A jury is picked to sit on any similar case and although they state before they take their seats that they are not prejudiced in the matter and honestly believe that they are not, at the same time there is an atmosphere that creeps in to the heart of a jurymen or jurymen, as the case may be, and he or she knows what the public opinion demands. Not that they are afraid to pass punishment upon the head of a criminal, but unless the case is of the most daring and heinous type there is a flood of sympathy on the streets and in the courtroom that somehow demands that the full penalty be not passed.

Dorothy Ellingson is not being looked upon now as the drink sodden loose girl that was depicted as the killer of her mother after a sudden fit of rage when her mother refused to let her have her own wishes gratified. Dorothy Ellingson is being pictured now as the highest type of womanhood, having repented of her sinful acts. The newspapers carry her pictures daily, one the girl with the characteristic makeup and the sneer of confidence and daring upon her face of three months ago. The other, a striking comparison, the woman, her eyes saddened with sorrow and pain, her heart filled with remorse and her head full of understanding, her expression almost angelic. Public opinion has been moulded, the law requires that she die for the sin that she has committed. The odds are ten to one that public opinion will win.

Dorothy Ellingson may not go free, she may not be allowed to walk the streets in freedom and enjoy the home life of a sane and normal girl, but she will not die as others have and for less dastardly deeds, public opinion has been moulded. She must live for she didn't know. This case has brought to light again one of the greatest assets in the makeup of the human race although it may be a distinct blow to the administration of justice in the courts. As far back as history can reach such cases have been tried and public opinion has been thrown in the balance to outweigh the say so of the court standing on the rock bottom foundation of fact. Public opinion has always won in the gamble for a life.

Joan of Arc was killed because a superstitious public opinion was moulded against her. Years later another superstitious fear caused the canonizing of the same peasant girl and the scattering to the four winds of the ashes of her accuser and persecutor. Public opinion.

Of course the courts are being cheated daily by the demands of public opinion, but the sympathy that is born somewhere in every soul is indeed beautiful. The desire to aid, the wish to help, a suffering fellow being whom we feel has not had the advantages of home training and home love and care that should have been given. The love and sympathy of woman and the chivalry of manhood is being given to the child murderer who did not know the consequences of the terrible act that she is admitted to have done.

The courts should be upheld in their decisions, they should be allowed to function, the wheels of the law to turn justice to the fortunate and unfortunate, the rich and the poor alike, but when there comes a case like the Ellingson case, public opinion cannot be criticised for its stand

John E. Walters, known as Boston's "Lone Wolf" burglar, under arrest there, has confessed he was one of the robbers who held up Mrs. Edith Bobe, wealthy New York medist, and Robert L. Hargreaves, official of the Standard Oil Co., and robbed Mrs. Bobe of $25,000 worth of jewels. Dudley Field Malone, an American lawyer practicing in Paris, has gone to London to enter suit, on behalf of an unnamed American woman, against Colonel Ian Onslow Dennistoun, husband of the Dowager Countess of Carnarvon, and defendant in the recent sensational case of his first wife, for alleged breach of promise to marry. Representative Clarence J. ## YOUR HEALTH

"After-Cataract" Is Curable by a Slight Operation

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York.

Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

A YOUNG woman in Kentucky writes for information concerning "After-ataract." She says her mother had what she describes as a "splendidly successful operation" two years ago. At first the patient could see to sew and read, but during the past few months or a year a "skin" has been forming over the eye, seriously interfering with vision.

Cataract is not a growth or opacity of the outside of the eyeball. On the contrary, it is an opacity of the crystalline lens, a structure inside the eyeball, immediately back of the colored part of the eye. If you study an eye having cataract, you will observe the pupil, which in health is perfectly black, is clouded, milky in appearance.

The normal crystalline lens is transparent, like a perfect reading glass in clearness. In cataract the lens has become like ground glass, in appearance like the white of an egg which has been coddled. The crystalline lens is a jelly-like mass contained within a tough, transparent sac, called the capsule. In the operation for cataract an incision is made, opening the eyeball, and this capsule is cut across, permitting the clouded lens substance to pop out. This is called "extracting" the cataract.

You see this form of operation leaves the capsule inside the eye. While the front part has been torn open to permit the lens substance to be extracted, the back portion is left in place. So long as the capsule remains transparent its presence is of no consequence, because the lens substance, clouded by the cataract, has been gotten out of the way.

It is unfortunate that almost always the capsule gradually loses its transparency, and in a few months the increasing opacity cuts out eight, just as the cataract did before it was removed. This condition is called "after-ataract," and this is what has come to worry the Kentucky lady.

But the remedy is simple. The doctor will put a drop of cocaine in the eye to deaden its feeling. Then, with a tiny needle-knife, he will cut a window through the "skin," the "after-ataract," leaving an opening through which clear vision will come.

The operation doesn't hurt a bit. It takes about thirty seconds to perform. In a few days the doctor will fit new glasses and at the end of a week everything will be all right.

Go to the doctor who operated on you, dear lady. He will take the best care of you and you will be happy ever after!

"The practice of using motion pictures as a teaching aid is in its infancy or in the same place that physical and chemical laboratories were 25 years ago," said William H. Dudley chief of the University of Wisconsin bureau. "While visual education should never and probably will not entirely supplant other methods of instruction, it will continue to be used more as a supplement to discussion and lecture."

For this function the church auditorium had been prettily decorated with silver baskets of jonquils. Guests were met at the church entrance by Mrs. James D. The punch bowl was embedded in Jackson vine, its glistening green making an excellent foundation for the sprays of purple lilac thrown against it.

Just before the opening of the general session, madame president Mrs. F. L. Carwell called a meeting of the executive board in the Sunday school room. Opening with a prayer, the reports of the various superintendents were heard. Plans were made for Circle No. 1 to serve the Business Woman's luncheon at the Y. M. C. PECULIAR MALADY
AFFECTING WOMEN

Until the Discovery of G. F. P. Authorities on Female Ailments Were Baffled by Strange Condition Now Found to Be the Real Cause.

Of all the sickness and diseases which human beings become afflicted with, none are more common than the pains, nervousness, irritability and slowly wasting away of the vitality of so many women.

The real cause for this condition has for generations always been the source of much discussion and study. The most skilled specialists have been unable to find a successful specific remedy for it.

Based on the unique theory that catarrh of the generative organs is causing them to become weakened and unable to carry out the functions which nature intends for them to perform, the discoverers of St. Joseph's in the field of medicine. This medicine is quickly overcoming and stamping out the distressing effects of the malady, and thousands of women in the larger cities where it has been introduced are publicly praising it because they now know the cause of their condition, and are convinced that G. F. P. is the medicine they should have been using right from the first symptom of their irregularity, nervousness, pains in the side and back, loss of weight, no appetite, headaches and nausea, unusual discomfort and swelling of limbs and joints during pregnancy.

Hours might be taken to describe the mental and bodily suffering of girls and women who suffer from this most common malady and their seemingly absolute failure to get relief from it before now. A morbid, whimsical, melancholy and distressing condition of the mind, to say nothing of the awful physical suffering is the usual state of nine women out of ten who are afflicted with dreaded catarrh of their generative organs and life to them seems hardly worth living.

Remove Your Wrinkles

Better than massage for removing wrinkles and age lines, far less expensive and bothersome, is a simple tarrort mixture which any woman can prepare and apply in a jiffy. Almost immediately after spreading this over the face there is a pleasant, soothing sensation and the mirror shows the horrid age lines and "sags" disappearing like magic. In less than fifteen minutes the face is as smooth and firm as a schoolgirl's. Seems almost too good to be true, but the actual experience quickly removes all doubt.

All one need do is to procure an original package of tarrort from the druggist, mix a spoonful with a spoonful of lemon juice and apply with the fingers. This of course, is perfectly harmless. It is easily washed off, leaving the face wonderfully refreshed and rejuvenated, with a healthy glow. And the cost of such treatment is 3 cents.

Ruth Delights Birmingham Fandom; Great Clout With the Bases Loaded

Babe Ruth, the battering Bambino, lived up to his established reputation for clouting home runs on yesterday when he defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers almost single handed and alone with a four ply clout, when the bases were choked with Yankee uniformed men. The blow came in the second inning when the Yanks piled in seven runs. The Dodgers were never quite able to recover from the second stanza.

Bob Shawkey started for the Yanks and was in trouble during the two innings that he worked. Francis, Beall and Johnston were called upon by Manager Juggins all being wild and unable to locate the plate. Osborne Cantrell and Schwartz were the mound men for the Dodgers.

The Yanks won by a count of 11-8.

Detroit of the American League defeated the Richmond Va., team on Monday by a 6-3 score. Manager Cobb used Wells and Doyle for hurling chores.

Tulane college jumped and defeated the New Orleans Southern League club 15-9.

Indianapolis of the American Association banged Memphis hurlers for a 9-2 victory at Memphis Monday.

The Giants handed a bitter dose to the American league club of Washington Monday with a heavy score of

The West Albany team of the Y. M. C. A. Twin-City Junior League captained by Jimmie Singleton, handed the famous Rinky Dinks a tight game of baseball yesterday at Malone park, grabbing the heavy end of a 7 to 6 score.

Score at the close of the sixth inning stood at 3 to 3. Rinky Dinks captured 3 more runs during their bat the first half of the seventh, but the West Albanyers bested this by one run during last half of seventh, and with only one out against them. This stunt brought the victory from the Rinky Dinks, who walked off the field losers, but good sports. The match was a 7 inning affair.

This afternoon the Junior Y. M. C. A. will go up against the West Decatur team. Ferrow Himes will umpire in the absence of S. E. Arvidson who will officiate a match between the Albany high school and the L. and N. Shops.

"Y" Directors were heavy losers to the Demolays in bowling last night at the Y. M. C. A. the latter team taking all four points.

Speer ran away with all honors for last night, copping both high single score 186 and high total pinnage 450. Speer still retains his tournament average of 151 pins.

Teams clashing tonight will be the Business Men vs. the Machine Shop. Former team rates a handicap of 22 pins.

BILIOUS ATTACKS

From Which Kentucky Man Suffered Two or Three Times a Month, Relieved by Black-Draught.

Lawrenceburg, Ky.—Mr. J. P. Nevins, a local coal dealer and farmer, about two years ago learned of the value of Thedford's Black-Draught liver medicine, and now he says:

"Until then I suffered with severe bilious attacks that came on two or three times each month. I would get nauseated. I would have dizziness and couldn't work."

"I would take pills until I was worn-out with them. I didn't seem to get relief. After taking the pills my bowels would act a couple or three times, then I would be very constipated."

"A neighbor told me of Black-Draught and I began its use. I never have found so much relief as it gave me. I would not be without it for anything."

"It seemed to cleanse my whole system and make me feel like new. I would take a few doses—get rid of the bile and have my usual clear head, feel full of 'pep' and could do twice the work."

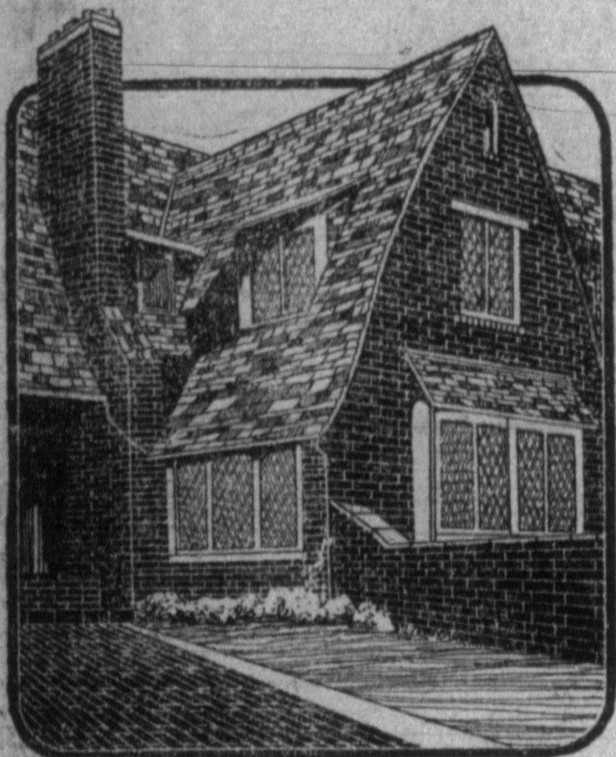

One cent a dose.

Consider the Final Cost

THERE IS NO ECONOMY in low first cost if the burden is placed on the cost of UPKEEP. The additional cost of brick in the beginning is soon repaid by the saving in repairs. Over a period of years, SOLID BRICK CONSTRUCTION is not only more satisfactory, but decidedly less expensive. Because of its final economy, beauty and fire safety, common brick is being used more than ever before. Notice the new ones in your neighborhood.

FARMERS AND MERCHANTS BANK BUY THEIR HOME, AND WILL ENLARGE QUARTERS

The Farmers and Merchants bank a few days ago bought the banking house which they have used since the organization of the bank in 1920, from the owner A. Polytinsky and will begin at once to enlarge their quarters to meet the demands of their expanding banking business. They will extend the building southward to the limits of their lot, and will also do much interior improvement.

This bank, the youngest of the three here, has had a phenomenal business since its organization, and has been a paying institution from the very beginning.

EPWORTH LEAGUE HOLDS SERVICE AT THE SUNDAY EVENING PREACHING HOUR

The Hartselle Epworth League occupied the preaching hour at the Methodist church last Sunday evening, providing a most entertaining and inspirational service, following a business meeting, at which a large majority of the members were present.

The league is enjoying a steady growth and have done much work of a very worthy character during the past six months.

NEW BUILDING BEING ERECTED BY FIRST NATIONAL BANK

The First National Bank has broken ground for the erection of a large and commodious store building on their vacant lot just east of their new bank building. This building when completed will add greatly to the appearance of that side of the street, and will fill the only vacant lot existing from the railroad westward to Bee line highway. It is stated that already offers of rental have been made to the owners, and when ready will no doubt be occupied by some kind of business.

A. POLYTINSKY WILL ERECT NEW BUILDING EAST OF FARMERS AND MERCHANTS BANK

A. Polytinsky, veteran builder of Hartselle will begin at once the erection of a store building on his vacant lot adjoining the Farmers and Merchants bank. Fire destroyed a building there several years ago, and the lot has been vacant since. This will give a decided air of improvement to this already busy street, and will provide another modern business house in that section.

HARTSELLE CEMETERY TO RECEIVE BETTER ATTENTION

The Hartselle city council has gone on record as favoring better attention being given the Hartselle cemetery and to this end has started a movement to have work done on and in the cemetery each week. A committee consisting of Mrs. C. I. Lee, of the Methodist church; Mrs. William Veddle of the Presbyterian church; Ar. I. V. Griffin of the Christian church, and R. L. Sherrill of the Baptist church has been named to confer on ways and means to further the cause of keeping the "City of the Dead" in good repair. The committee will hold their first meeting Tuesday afternoon at which time it is expected that a program of work will be mapped out, which will ultimately sanctify a place which has been sadly neglected in the past.

An iron fence will be placed around the cemetery and other improvements of a worthy character will be made.

Sheriff C. E. Poole and family of Flint spent Sunday with his brother, Walter S. Poole.

Miss Lucy Britnell a student at Woman's College, Montgomery, is spending a few days vacation with her mother Mrs. Lillie Britnell. She leaves again for her school duties next Wednesday.
